UPDATE I have seen the concept of the new website www.juliekayinternational.com and it looks awesome. I have been told it will be live by the middle of July YES!

By Julie Kay

Hi Everyone

The middle of the year is here. I have had an awesome month;

I celebrated my 42nd birthday with 25 of my beautiful friends at Vecchia Roma Italian Restaurant in Burleigh heads.

This month I had private reading bookings in Brisbane and I would like to thank Robyn Penman for arranging this weekend of appointments and for her hospitality. Thank you to everyone who had an appointment with me.

This month I head to South Australia where I will be conducting "Pulse" Energy for Life workshop and taking private appointments. Thank you Jo from Crystal vision in Mount Gambier, your continual support with bookings is gratefully appreciated. Due to demand I have added a couple of extra days for appointments. I was also back at the Chakra Shack on Fridays this month, Wini you are such an awesome person, a gift of light for everyone.

Meditation classes and soul development will be run on the Gold Coast as well as Tweed Heads South. While I am away my inspiring partner in crime Lida Parker from Seventh Ray Centre will facilitate these classes they are run on 2nd and 4th Tuesday evening (Tweed) and Saturday (Broadbeach) of every month. See the events page for schedule. I return from S A on 21st July.

Enjoy Life and take care and shine on....

Julie Kay

Soul retrieval and letting go of the wounded child within!

If you have chosen the path to enlightenment of self you would have discovered that it does not mean that you will be perfectly peaceful and happy every day. The path to enlightenment means by knowing your true self and how the soul works, allow you to let go of the struggle and deal with the challenges of life in a more non reacting peaceful way. Is it worth the effort? If letting go of constant struggle in your life is worth it then I say absolutely! Is it easy? Looking at and being totally honest and responsible for your life and every experience in it, can be very difficult for some. When you get to the stage where change needs to happen then the road to enlightenment is easy.

Who we are today and the energy at which we vibrate, is a reflection of our soul based on our experiences, our perceptions of these experiences and how our subconscious has processed this information into our emotional lives.

If you are in constant struggle with an aspect of your life that won't seem to heal then you might like to consider Soul Retrieval. We have been bought up in a society and environment that we have inherited and have been conditioned by guilt, shame, spiritually hostile and emotionally dishonest. We inherited this condition from our parents who were bought up under the same conditions and knowing less than we do now. Between the ages of 0-7 we experience the conditioning that our soul has chosen in this life time. In most cases we experience repetitive constant struggle because at this early age, a negative emotional experience caused our inner child to shut down. The inner child is that part of yourself that resides within, that desires to be nurtured, cared for and loved. At the time of this experience and shut down we abandoned ourselves and became the shadow of the experience often recreating the experience in different situations through out our lives.

If our child is wounded, he/she has shut down and in-essence is driving the subconscious as we go through our lives in reaction to emotional experiences of pent up guilt, shame, terror, and pain. I ask you; would you let a child drive your car? If your emotional state is one of constant guilt, shame, terror and pain then chances are your wounded inner child is driving and controlling your life. So how can you take back control and rescue this child. Soul Retrieval work is one very successful way of achieving this. Through years of my own soul development and practice I have discovered a very powerful process of soul retrieval work. This process is a combination of meditation, inner child therapy, wounded subconscious reprogramming and energy healing. Together we take the subconscious on a journey to rescue and heal this wounded child and bring your child back to the now, healing and releasing all past experiences as you pass along the time line of your past. In the now your inner child can start to experience nurturing and love. Powerful stuff! So many times you here me say "don't focus on the past be in the now" and that is truly where we need to be, if you can't stay in the now and the past keeps repeating then I would suggest that you see someone who is qualified in innerchild work or soul regression to heal that aspect of self that is keeping you in struggle.

To book a soul retrieval with Julie email juliekayinternational@bigpond.com. If you are outside of the Gold Coast and Northern Rivers areas please watch out for the event planning questionnaire that will be appearing in your inbox shortly. This is where you will get to request what events you would like to experience in your area including personal appointments.

Numerology

The month of July (7)

July vibrates with the energy of the single number 7. The energy vibration associated with the number 7 Trust, openness, perceptive, private, profound, peace, thoughtfulness, spiritual, sensitive, secretive, quiet, knowing, ethical, reflection, study, peace. This vibration of energy will influence the self to take stock of where the soul is sitting at the moment. If you are in struggle then you will be forced to go with in and look at your part in the struggle. If you are sailing peaceful waters and looking to expand your spiritual connection you may have a significant breakthrough as the energy of the 7 will certainly help this month. Issues of trust and openness are very strong this month, so if you are not trusting yourself, go within, if you don't trust someone else a good time to be open about your feelings. If some one is being dishonest this is a month where true colours are revealed.

2008 (1) Combine the energy of this months 7 energy with the energy of the 2008 (1) and July is bringing in change. If you are struggling with your faith and direction this month is supported to find direction. Go within as this is the place to discover your purpose and path. If you are not listening or living in fear and struggle then you may be in for a tough month if you bury your head in the sand. Relationships especially ones formed since January 2008 will find that issues of trust and openness are brought into the lime light. A relationship that has trust and openness will thrive; those that are floundering around these issues will be shown the light of truth. Honesty is called for this month both with yourself and others. The energy of dishonesty will certainly struggle to stay hidden in this energy vibration. I always say that July is the month of instant Karma good or bad. You instantly manifest your cause and effect, so work in the positive and you will reap the benefits.

Numerology can be found in countless ancient religions and cultures.

By studying the numbers of a person's date of birth you can get an accurate direction of that person's life path, the careers that would suit them, their personality and what issues could affect the next 12 months. A DLF Therapy personal numerology report gives you a full report on the above mentioned and a good indication of your life's purpose based on your destiny numbers.

Numerology reports are not computer based generic reports. They are individual reports that combine the use of numerology with channeling by Medium Julie Kay.

Due to the time involved to put these reports together they have been priced accordingly at $120.00 To receive your personal numerology report email juliekayinternational@bigpond.com

Reports are $120, fully bound and posted to you

Article by Kym Kranen www.solutions4success.biz

Are Things Really as Tough as We Think?

Right now, we are constantly bombarded with gloomy news about our economy. No matter where I go, someone is talking about how tough business is, how much the cost of living has risen, how much it cost to fill their car with fuel. Have you noticed these issues are all about money?

Life is not & should not be driven by money, however, that seems to be the case in our current society. Have we forgotten about the other riches in our lives? If you have read the book, 'Think And Grow Rich' by Napoleon Hill you already know what I'm talking about.

'Everyone wants to be rich, but not everyone knows what constitute enduring wealth. Most people believe riches only to consist of material things (that money can buy)'

Napoleon Hill lists 12 things that he feels constitute real riches;

1. Positive mental attitude
2. Sound physical health
3. Harmony in human relationships
4. Freedom from fear
5. Hope of future achievements
6. Capacity for applied faith
7. Willingness to share ones blessings with others
8. To be engaged in a labour of love
9. An open mind on all subjects to all people
10. Complete self discipline
11. Wisdom with which to understand people
12. Financial security

You may notice that money comes at the very end of Napoleon's list. Remember, this book was written in the 1920's – if you think we have it tough now, have a look at what was going on back then.

I know what some of you are thinking... YES I am living on the same planet as you are. Yes I am paying the same for fuel & food as you are. There's not a whole lot I (or you) can do about it. I'll be the first one to put my hand up & say when you have no money life isn't a walk in the park, you do have some extra stresses to endure.

I can also tell you this... when you are ill or going through relationship turmoil, all the money in the world can't make that right.

Maybe it's time to look at other riches in our lives & we put money in the position where it really belongs... you may just find life isn't so tough after all.

Time Management is a Myth.

No matter how organized we are, there is only 24 hours in a day. Time doesn't change. So, if we can't manage time, what can we manage? All we can actually manage is ourselves and what we do in our 24 hours each day. Are you making the best use of your time?

Tip

Notables: Keep a small notebook and pen handy, wherever you are, to jot down ideas, appointments & to do lists. Don't try to remember them, some will always escape!
